

Sprint 2 Report, In the Kitchen, The Chefs, 7/17/23

• Actions to stop doing:

- Not waiting till the end to merge all of the changes. This sprint we tried to implement branching to be more organized in our work flow but a shortcoming was there were a few branch issues that we were able to resolve but could have been handled better and earlier.
- Try to be more strict with the sprint plan, and not modify the task list. This week we made a couple of adjustments to the task list and added a couple of extra ones that were able to be completed but could have caused us to be backed up entering our last sprint.

• Actions to start doing:

- Find more convenient meeting times. So far we have been able to meet on days where we needed to, however due to personal commitments and schedules sometimes those meetings have come at unconventional times.
- Update the Dev branch throughout the week with merges, essentially more frequent code reviews. Similar to the action to stop doing with waiting to merge all of the changes at the end of the week. It would be nice to always have an idea of how the project is developing throughout the week by updating the dev branch more frequently.

• Actions to keep doing:

- Keep consistent scrum meetings, at least once every two days. This has been one of our most consistent practices and has made communication within the group at an all time high. Using discord for messaging has also been quite effective in the time off of meetings.
- Keeping the scrum meetings brief, at most 15-20 minutes, then issues can be handled outside of the scrum once it is dismissed.
